Go, Go, Samurai! Scholastic, Inc. Staff, 2012 Seven different scenarios are presented on fully illustrated facing pages with a short description of the action that can be enhanced by use of the accompanying stickers Can She Atoned? Abby Whitney Brown, 1881 Hollywood Highbrow Shyon Baumann, 2018-06-05 Today's moviegoers and critics generally consider some Hollywood products even some blockbusters to be legitimate works of art. But during the first half century of motion pictures very few Americans would have thought to call an American movie art. Up through the 1950s American movies were regarded as a form of popular even lower class entertainment. By the 1960s and 1970s however viewers were regularly judging Hollywood films by artistic criteria previously applied only to high art forms. In Hollywood Highbrow Shyon Baumann for the first time tells how social and cultural forces radically changed the public's perceptions of American movies just as those forces were radically changing the movies themselves. The development in the United States of an appreciation of film as an art was Baumann shows the product of large changes in Hollywood and American society as a whole. With the postwar rise of television American movie audiences shrank dramatically and Hollywood responded by appealing to richer and more educated viewers. Around the same time European ideas about the director as artist, an easing of censorship and the development of art house cinemas, film festivals and the academic field of film studies encouraged the idea that some American movies and not just European ones deserved to be considered art. A Series of Plays in which it is Attempted to Delineate the Stronger Passions of the Mind: Each Passion Being the Subject of a Tragedy and a Comedy Joanna Baillie, 1806 Dear Black Girls Shanice Nicole, 2021-02-08 Dear Black Girls is a letter to all Black girls. Every day poet and educator Shanice Nicole is reminded of how special Black girls are and of how lucky she is to be one. Illustrations by Kezna Dalz support the book's message that no two Black girls are the same but they are all special that to be a Black girl is a true gift. In this celebratory poem Kezna and Shanice remind young readers that despite differences they all deserve to be loved just the way they are. Masako's Story Kikuko Otake, 2011-12-28 On August 6, 1945 when the world's first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima the Furuta family was living one mile away from the hypocenter. Five year old Kikuko, her mother Masako and her two brothers barely escaped with their lives. However their soldier father was not so fortunate. Masako never talked about her family's experiences on that day and the grim days following the bombing. Then one day Masako started to talk about what happened, breaking a silence of nearly fifty years. Written by Kikuko Furuta Otake, now a retired assistant professor of Japanese in the United States, Masako's story is a collection of prose poetry based on the true story of her family's tragedy. It is written with an Objectivist lineation similar in its understated power to Charles Reznikoff's

Testimony Kikuko Otake s Masako s Story is a powerful addition to the literature of the Atomic Bomb and yet more evidence that we should all work together to stop the Nuclear madness
