Resilience and the Cultural Landscape Tobias Plieninger,Claudia Bieling,2012-10-18 All over the world efforts are being made to preserve landscapes facing fundamental change as a consequence of widespread agricultural intensification land abandonment and urbanisation The cultural landscape and resilience approaches have until now largely been viewed as distinct methods for understanding the effects of these dynamics and the ways in which they might be adapted or managed This book brings together these two perspectives providing new insights into the social ecological resilience of cultural landscapes by coming to terms with and challenging the concepts of driving forces thresholds adaptive cycles and adaptive management By linking these research communities this book develops a new perspective on landscape changes Based on firm conceptual contributions and rich case studies from Europe the Americas and Australia it will appeal to anyone interested in analysing and managing change in human shaped environments in the context of sustainability

Preserving Cultural Landscapes in America Arnold R. Alanen,Robert Melnick,2000-04-03 Historic preservation efforts began with an emphasis on buildings especially those associated with significant individuals places or events Subsequent efforts were expanded to include vernacular architecture but only in recent decades have preservationists begun shifting focus to the land itself Cultural landscapes such as farms gardens and urban parks are now seen as projects worthy of the preservationist s attention

Introduction to Human Geography David Dorrell,Joseph P. Henderson,2018-10

Cultural Landscape in Practice Giuseppe Amoruso,Rossella Salerno,2019-02-13 This book approaches cultural landscape as a driver for societal challenges economic development social inclusion place assessment and heritage conservation It explores issues stemming from the relation between conservation and emergencies and identifies descriptive tools for conveying knowledge and generating new expertise heritage skills seismic culture and social resilience The documentation of landscapes due in part to new technologies increasingly involves integrated methodologies and graphic outcomes such as Heritage BIM advanced 3D modeling and immersive environments According to recent UNESCO recommendations the process of mapping places is a necessary prerequisite for design action and also includes the emotional and perceptive dimension so as to represent space through visual thought and produce graphic materials The chapters presented here will ultimately support efforts to overcome the emergency phase of reconstruction after natural disasters and by exploring relevant issues in recent studies will describe emerging tools that can help inspire practices that concern not only agrarian and urban but also historic urban landscapes The work also presents planning tools to help preserve the integrity and authenticity of urban heritages The book will benefit all scholars and practitioners who are involved in the process of understanding designing and transforming places and will foster an international exchange of research case studies and best practices to confront the practical challenges involved in keeping cultural landscapes alive

The Cultural Landscape Hilary H. Birks, 1988 The Cultural Landscape Past Present and Future considers different aspects of man's intervention with natural vegetation and the landscape resulting from a long equilibrium of co-existence. These landscapes are not stable and the recent and ever-accelerating changes in technology and life style have increasingly affected many ancient landscapes as old land use practices are abandoned and traditions forgotten. The papers in this book describe and trace the development of cultural landscapes in different climatic and biogeographical regions in Europe. Remnants of traditional land use still remaining are described particularly from Western Norway where traditions have lingered because the rugged topography of the region is inimicable to high technology. Each chapter is by an expert in the field. The topics cover the documentation of present cultural landscapes, their maintenance and restoration, and the history of the development of cultural landscapes from the Stone Age onwards, linking the intensity of landscape utilization with population dynamics and technological attainments. The disciplines involved include vegetation science, vegetation history, ecology, palaeoecology, archaeology, sociology, geography, and history.

Cultural Landscapes of India Amita Sinha, 2020-11-10 Most people view cultural heritage sites as static places frozen in time. In Cultural Landscapes in India, Amita Sinha subverts the idea of heritage as static and examines the ways that landscapes influence culture and that culture influences landscapes. The book centers around imagining, enacting, and reclaiming landscapes as subjects and settings of living cultural heritage. Drawing on case studies from different regions of India, Sinha offers new interpretations of links between land and culture using different ways of seeing: transcendental, romantic, and utilitarian. The idea of cultural landscape can be seen in ancient practices such as circumambulation and immersion in bodies of water that sustain engagement with natural elements. Pilgrim towns, medieval forts, religious sites, and contemporary memorial parks are sites of memory where myth and history converge. Engaging with these spaces allows us to reconstruct collective memory and reclaim not only historic landscapes but ways of seeing, making, and remembering. Cultural Landscapes in India makes the case for reclaiming iconic landscapes and rethinking conventional approaches to conservation that take into consideration performative landscape as heritage.
