Public Technology Procurement and Innovation Charles Edquist, Leif Hommen, Lena J. Tshipouri, 2000 Public Technology Procurement and Innovation studies public technology procurement as an instrument of innovation policy In the past few years public technology procurement has been a relatively neglected topic in the theoretical and research literature on the economics of innovation Similarly preoccupation with supply side measures has led policy makers to avoid making very extensive use of this important demand side instrument These trends have been especially pronounced in the European Union There as this book will argue existing legislation governing public procurement presents obstacles to the use of public technology procurement as a means of stimulating and supporting technological innovation Recently however there has been a gradual re awakening of practical interest in such measures among policy makers in the EU and elsewhere For these and other related measures this volume aims to contribute to a serious reconsideration of public technology procurement from the complementary standpoints of innovation theory and innovation policy
