Haas, John L. Malouf, 1989 Ethical Issues in Mental Health Steve Baldwin, Philip J. Barker, 2013-11-11 Why write another book on ethics As practitioners we are involved both in the design and delivery of services to people with mental health problems In common with all other professionals our work has led to the experience of ethical dilemmas typically these have involved major confrontations either with our colleagues or our consciences This book however is not limited to a discussion of such major themes Rather we have tried to use a broader canvas ethics in our view is really about the judgement of right and wrong in ordinary everyday life Ethics are highly personal we fashion our own personal code from our experience of others and from the tests which bring meaning to our lives Such experiences shape our individual values We bring these codes and values to our work We are not always aware of their influence in our dealings with people Although we may not always be aware of it all our actions pose an ethical question Given that our work involves us in helping others to live ordinary satisfying lives this challenge heightens the intensity of our ethical dilemmas This is most evident where our personal code conflicts with the implicit code of the health setting
