FIDIC Users' Guide Brian Samuel Barr, 2013

FIDIC - A Guide for Practitioners Axel-Volkmar Jaeger, Götz-Sebastian Hök, 2009-11-11 In 1999 a suite of three new conditions of contract was published by FIDIC following the basic structure and wording harmonised and updated around the previous FIDIC Design Build and Turnkey Contract the 1992 Orange Book These conditions known as the FIDIC rainbow were the Conditions of Contract for Construction the so called Red Book for works designed by the Employer | Plant and Design Build the so called Yellow Book for works designed by the Contractor | EPC Turnkey Projects the so called Silver Book for works designed by the Contractor The first is intended for construction works where the Employer is responsible for the design as for per the previous so called Red Book 4th Edition 1987 with an important role for the Engineer The other two conditions of contract are intended for situations when the Contractor is responsible for the design The Plant and Design Build Contract has the traditional Engineer while the EPC Turnkey Contract has a two party arrangement generally with an Employer's Representative as one of the parties

The FIDIC Forms of Contract Nael G. Bunni, 2013-02-05 In September 1999 FIDIC introduced its new Suite of Contracts which included a new Red Yellow Silver and Green forms of contract The new Red Book was intended to replace the 1992 fourth edition of the Red Book with the ambition that its use would cease with time This ambition has not materialised and is unlikely to do so in the future Despite the importance of the 1999 Forms there has been very little published on the new concepts adopted in them and how they interact with the previous forms This important work considers these aspects together with the many developments affecting the fourth edition of the Red Book that have taken place since 1997 when the second edition of this book was published and relates them to key contracting issues It is written by a chartered engineer conciliator and international arbitrator with wide experience in the use of the FIDIC Forms and in the various dispute resolution mechanisms specified in them Important features of this book include background and concepts of the various forms of contract a detailed comparison of the wording of the 1999 three main forms which although similar in nature it nevertheless significantly differs in certain areas where the three forms diverge due to their intended purpose analysis of the rights and obligations of the parties involved in the contract and the allocation of risks concerned a range of decision tree charts analysing the main features of the 1992 Red Book including risks indemnities and insurances claims and counterclaims variations procedure for claims programme and delay suspension payments and certificates dispute resolution mechanisms and dispute boards a much enlarged discussion of the meaning of claim and dispute and the types of claim with a discussion of the Notice provision in the 1999 forms of contract for the submittal of claims by a contractor and by an employer the FIDIC scheme of indemnities and insurance requirements and the methods of dispute resolution provided by the various forms of contract and five new chapters in this third edition the first four chapters deal with each of the 1999 forms and the fifth chapter is confined to the topic of Dispute Boards
