World Development Report 2009 World Bank,2008-11-04 Rising densities of human settlements migration and transport to reduce distances to market and specialization and trade facilitated by fewer international divisions are central to economic development The transformations along these three dimensions density distance and division are most noticeable in North America Western Europe and Japan but countries in Asia and Eastern Europe are changing in ways similar in scope and speed World Development Report 2009 Reshaping Economic Geography concludes that these spatial transformations are essential and should be encouraged The conclusion is not without controversy Slum dwellers now number a billion but the rush to cities continues Globalization is believed to benefit many but not the billion people living in lagging areas of developing nations High poverty and mortality persist among the world's bottom billion while others grow wealthier and live longer lives Concern for these three billion often comes with the prescription that growth must be made spatially balanced The WDR has a different message economic growth is seldom balanced and efforts to spread it out prematurely will jeopardize progress The Report documents how production becomes more concentrated spatially as economies grow proposes economic integration as the principle for promoting successful spatial transformations revisits the debates on urbanization territorial development and regional integration and shows how today's developers can reshape economic geography

The System of Protection and Industrial Development in Zimbabwe Lindani B. Ndlovu, 2018-12-20 First published in 1994 this volume seeks to evaluate the impact of trade restrictions and other forms of government intervention on the development of manufacturing industries in Zimbabwe in the 1980s The study focuses on the period after independence in Zimbabwe up to 1989 The emphasis of the study is on a the extent and levels of effective protection afforded the industries by the system and b the efficiency of all industries created by the system of protection This research seeks to assess the extent of protection created by managed trade and other forms of government intervention and the resultant efficiency of manufacturing sector industries using single period effective rate of protection ERP and domestic resource cost DRC estimates The aim is to show the structure of incentives and efficiency implications of intervention for sample firms and the whole manufacturing sector

Global Waves of Debt M. Ayhan Kose, Peter Nagle, Franziska Ohnsorge, Naotaka Sugawara, 2021-03-03 The global economy has experienced four waves of rapid debt accumulation over the past 50 years The first three debt waves ended with financial crises in many emerging market and developing economies During the current wave which started in 2010 the increase in debt in these economies has already been larger faster and broader based than in the previous three waves Current low interest rates mitigate some of the risks associated with high debt However emerging market and developing economies are also confronted by weak growth prospects mounting vulnerabilities and elevated global risks A menu of policy options is available to reduce the likelihood that the current debt wave will end in crisis and if crises do take place will alleviate their impact

Social Capital Partha Dasgupta,Ismael Serageldin,2000 This book contains a number of papers presented at a workshop organised by the World Bank in 1997 on the theme of Social Capital Integrating the Economist s and the Sociologist s Perspectives The concept of social capital is considered through a number of theoretical and empirical studies which discuss its analytical foundations as well as institutional and statistical analyses of the concept It includes the classic 1987 article by the late James Coleman Social Capital in the Creation of Human Capital which formed the basis for the development of social capital as an organising concept in the social sciences

The Collapse of Global Trade, Murky Protectionism, and the Crisis Richard E. Baldwin,Simon J. Evenett,2011-03 The global financial crisis of 2008 9 is the Great Depression of the 21st century For many though the similarities stop at the Wall Street Crash as the current generation of policymakers have acted quickly to avoid the mistakes of the past Yet the global crisis has made room for mistakes all of its own While governments have apparently kept to their word on refraining from protectionist measures in the style of 1930s tariffs there has been a disturbing rise in murky protectionism Seemingly benign these crisis linked policies are twisted to favour domestic firms workers and investors This book first published as an eBook on VoxEU org in March 2009 brings together leading trade policy practitioners and experts including Australian Trade Minister Simon Crean and former Mexican President Ernesto Zedillo Initially its aim was to advise policymakers heading in to the G20 meeting in London but since the threat of murky protectionism persists so too do their warnings A Handbook of International Trade in Services Aaditya Mattoo,Robert M. Stern,Gianni Zanini,2008 This title provides a comprehensive introduction to the key issues in trade and liberalization of services Providing a useful overview of the players involved the barriers to trade and case studies in a number of service industries this is ideal for policymakers and students interested in trade Economics: European Edition Paul Krugman,Robin Wells,Kathryn Graddy,2007-04-06 Economics European Edition is the ideal text for introductory economics bringing together an international scope of real world examples and economic theory The text is supported by a number of features to enhance student understanding as well as supplements to consolidate the learning process Does What You Export Matter? Daniel Lederman,William Maloney,2012-06-18 Does what economies export matter for development If so can industrial policies improve on the export basket generated by the market This book approaches these questions from a variety of conceptual and policy viewpoints Reviewing the theoretical arguments in favor of industrial policies the authors first ask whether existing indicators allow policy makers to identify growth promoting sectors with confidence To this end they assess and ultimately cast doubt upon the reliability of many popular indicators advocated by proponents of industrial policy Second and central to their critique the authors document extraordinary differences in the performance of countries exporting seemingly identical products be they natural resources or high tech goods Further they argue that globalization has so fragmented the production process that even talking about exported goods as opposed to tasks may be misleading Reviewing evidence from history and from around the world the authors conclude that policy makers should focus less on what is produced and more on how it is produced They analyze alternative approaches to picking winners but conclude by favoring horizontal ish policies for instance those that build human capital or foment innovation in existing and future products that only incidentally favor some sectors over others Global Value Chains in a Postcrisis World Olivier Cattaneo,Gary Gereffi,Cornelia Staritz,2010 The book looks to address the following questions in a post crisis world How have lead firms responded to the crisis Have they changed their traditional supply chain strategy and relocated and or outsourced part of their production How will those changes affect developing countries What should be the policy responses to these changes On the Balance of Trade David Hume,2015-12-16 David Hume 7 May 1711 25 August 1776 was a Scottish philosopher historian economist and essayist known especially for his philosophical empiricism and skepticism He is regarded as one of the most important figures in the history of Western philosophy and the Scottish Enlightenment Hume is often grouped with John Locke George Berkeley and a handful of others as a British Empiricist Beginning with his A Treatise of Human Nature 1739 Hume strove to create a total naturalistic science of man that examined the psychological basis of human nature In stark opposition to the rationalists who preceded him most notably Descartes he concluded that desire rather than reason governed human behaviour saying Reason is and ought only to be the slave of the passions A prominent figure in the skeptical philosophical tradition and a strong empiricist he argued against the existence of innate ideas concluding instead that humans have knowledge only of things they directly experience Thus he divides perceptions between strong and lively impressions or direct sensations and fainter ideas which are copied from impressions He developed the position that mental behaviour is governed by custom our use of induction for example is justified only by our idea of the constant conjunction of causes and effects Hume held notoriously ambiguous views of Christianity but he famously challenged the argument from design in his Dialogues Concerning Natural Religion 1779 The Regulation of International Trade, Volume 1 Petros C. Mavroidis, 2015-12-18 A detailed examination of the GATT regime for international trade discussing the negotiating record policy background economic rationale and case law The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade GATT was created alongside other towering achievements of the post World War II era including the United Nations the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund GATT the first successful agreement to generate multilateral trade liberalization became the principal institution to administer international trade for the next six decades In this book Petros Mavroidis offers detailed examination of the GATT regime for international trade discussing the negotiating record policy background economic rationale and case law Mavroidis offers a substantive first chapter that provides a detailed historical background to GATT that stretches from the 1927 World Economic Conference through Bretton Woods and the Atlantic Charter Each of the following chapters examines the disciplines agreed to their negotiating record their economic rationale and subsequent practice Mavroidis focuses on cases that have influenced the prevailing understanding of the norm as well as on literature that has contributed to its interpretation and the final outcome In particular he examines quantitative restrictions and tariffs the most favored nation clause MFN the cornerstone of the GATT edifice preferential trade agreements and special treatment for products originating in developing countries domestic instruments and exceptions to the obligations assumed under GATT This book s companion volume examines World Trade Organization WTO agreements regulating trade in goods
