central and inner cities in Europe North America and Australia been so radically revamped in the last three decades converting urban decay into new chic Will the process continue in the twenty first century or has it ended What does this mean for the people who live there Can they do anything about it This book challenges conventional wisdom which holds gentrification to be the simple outcome of new middle class tastes and a demand for urban living It reveals gentrification as part of a much larger shift in the political economy and culture of the late twentieth century Documenting in gritty detail the conflicts that gentrification brings to the new urban frontiers the author explores the interconnections of urban policy patterns of investment eviction and homelessness The failure of liberal urban policy and the end of the 1980s financial boom have made the end of the century city a darker and more dangerous place Public policy and the private market are conspiring against minorities working people the poor and the homeless as never before In the emerging revanchist city gentrification has become part of this policy of revenge

Creative Conservation P.J. Olney, G. Mace, A. Feistner, 2012-12-06 Past progress and future challenges R.J. Wheeler Royal Zoological Society of Scotland Edinburgh UK In the past two decades much has been achieved in the sphere of breeding endangered species and we should be pleased that our cooperative efforts have already borne so much fruit However on balance and despite the best efforts of conservationists the position of wildlife in the wild places where they are best conserved has become worse often dramatically worse Before returning to the United Kingdom in 1972 I was in Uganda for 16 years most of which time was spent as Chief Warden of Murchison Falls National Park Our main problem was that an over population of large mammals was having a devastating impact on the habitat Devastation was being wrought on woodland areas by the arrival of large numbers of elephants into the sanctuary of the Park following changes in land use in the areas outside the Park These changes were in response to the requirements of an ever expanding human population
