Project scheduling problems are generally speaking the problems of allocating scarce resources over time to perform a given set of activities The resources are nothing other than the arbitrary means which activities complete for Also the activities can have a variety of interpretations Thus project scheduling problems appear in a large spectrum of real world situations and in consequence they have been intensively studied for almost forty years Almost a decade has passed since the multi author monograph R Slowinski 1 W glarz eds Advances in Project Scheduling Elsevier 1989 summarizing the state of the art across project scheduling problems was published Since then considerable progress has been made in all directions of modelling and finding solutions to these problems Thus the proposal by Professor Frederick S Hillier to edit a handbook which reports on the recent advances in the field came at an exceptionally good time and motivated me to accept the challenge Fortunately almost all leading experts in the field have accepted my invitation and presented their completely new advances often combined with expository surveys Thanks to them the handbook stands a good chance of becoming a key reference point on the current state of the art in project scheduling as well as on new directions in the area The contents are divided into four parts The first one dealing with classical models exact algorithms is preceded by a proposition of the classification scheme for scheduling problems The Pocket Oxford-Hachette French Dictionary Marianne Chalmers,Martine Pierquin,2000-06
