Nutrition and Healthy Aging in the Community Institute of Medicine, Food and Nutrition Board, 2012-06-15 The U S population of older adults is predicted to grow rapidly as baby boomers those born between 1946 and 1964 begin to reach 65 years of age Simultaneously advancements in medical care and improved awareness of healthy lifestyles have led to longer life expectancies The Census Bureau projects that the population of Americans 65 years of age and older will rise from approximately 40 million in 2010 to 55 million in 2020 a 36 percent increase Furthermore older adults are choosing to live independently in the community setting rather than residing in an institutional environment Furthermore the types of services needed by this population are shifting due to changes in their health issues Older adults have historically been viewed as underweight and frail however over the past decade there has been an increase in the number of obese older persons Obesity in older adults is not only associated with medical comorbidities such as diabetes it is also a major risk factor for functional decline and homebound status The baby boomers have a greater prevalence of obesity than any of their historic counterparts and projections forecast an aging population with even greater chronic disease burden and disability In light of the increasing numbers of older adults choosing to live independently rather than in nursing homes and the important role nutrition can play in healthy aging the Institute of Medicine IOM convened a public workshop to illuminate issues related to community based delivery of nutrition services for older adults and to identify nutrition interventions and model programs Nutrition and Healthy Aging in the Community summarizes the presentations and discussions prepared from the workshop transcript and slides This report examines nutrition related issues of concern experienced by older adults in the community including nutrition screening food insecurity sarcopenic obesity dietary patterns for older adults and economic issues This report explores transitional care as individuals move from acute subacute or chronic care settings to the community and provides models of transitional care in the community This report also provides examples of successful intervention models in the community setting and covers the discussion of research gaps in knowledge about nutrition interventions and services for older adults in the community

Google Earth Engine Applications Lalit Kumar, Onesimo Mutanga, 2019-04-23 In a rapidly changing world there is an ever increasing need to monitor the Earth's resources and manage it sustainably for future generations Earth observation from satellites is critical to provide information required for informed and timely decision making in this regard Satellite based earth observation has advanced rapidly over the last 50 years and there is a plethora of satellite sensors imaging the Earth at finer spatial and spectral resolutions as well as high temporal resolutions The amount of data available for any single location on the Earth is now at the petabyte scale An ever increasing capacity and computing power is needed to handle such large datasets The Google Earth Engine GEE is a cloud based computing platform that was established by Google to support such data processing This facility allows for the storage processing and analysis of spatial data using centralized high power computing resources allowing scientists researchers hobbyists and anyone else interested in such fields to mine this data and understand the changes occurring on the Earth's surface This book presents research that applies the Google Earth Engine in mining storing retrieving and processing spatial data for a variety of applications that include vegetation monitoring cropland mapping ecosystem assessment and gross primary productivity among others Datasets used range from coarse spatial resolution data such as MODIS to medium resolution datasets Worldview 2 and the studies cover the entire globe at varying spatial and temporal scales

The Alphabet Sisters Monica McInerney, 2005-05-17 As girls growing up in Clare Valley Australia Anna Bett and Carrie Quinlan were childhood singing stars known as The Alphabet Sisters The unbridled enthusiasm of their flamboyant grandmother Lola was the glue that held them together As adults though the women haven't spoken in years ever since Bett's fiancé deserted her to marry the younger Carrie Now Lola is turning eighty and she is determined to reunite the girls for a blowout bash And no one ever says no to Lola Bett who fled to London after the scandal of losing her fiancé is hesitant to face her sisters and her hometown especially since she has yet to find another man Sophisticated Anna the eldest sister isn't too keen on the prospect either though she's secretly grateful for any excuse to leave her crumbling marriage behind in Sydney And Carrie who remained in Clare Valley is perhaps the most apprehensive Her marriage the nominal cause of the sisters' estrangement is also on the rocks Was she wrong to have followed her heart and run off with Bett's fiancé When Lola shares her special request that the girls stage a musical she has written their short visit becomes a much longer commitment As they are forced to spend more time together the sisters must confront the pain that lingers between them Preconceptions and misunderstandings are slowly put aside and the three find themselves gradually irresistibly enveloping one another once again until an unexpected turn of events changes everything in ways none of them could have ever imagined Layering the lighthearted antics of small town life with a heartbreaking story of loyalty lost and found The Alphabet Sisters is an unforgettable story of two generations of women who learn that being true to themselves means being true to one another BONUS This edition contains excerpts from Monica McInerney's Lola's Secret At Home with the Templetons The Faraday Girls Family Baggage Greetings from Somewhere Else and Upside Down Inside Out

Why We Play Roberte Hamayon, 2016 Play is one of humanity's straightforward yet deceitful ideas though the notion is unanimously agreed upon to be universal used for man and animal alike nothing defines what all its manifestations share from childish playtime to on stage drama from sporting events to market speculation Within the author's anthropological field of work Mongolia and Siberia playing holds a core position national holidays are called Games echoing in that way the circus games in Ancient Rome and today's Olympics These games convey ethical values and local identity Roberte Hamayon bases her analysis of the playing spectrum on their scrutiny Starting from fighting and dancing encompassing learning interaction emotion and strategy this study heads towards luck and belief as well as the ambiguity of the relation to fiction and reality It closes by indicating two features of play its margin and its metaphorical structure Ultimately revealing its consistency and coherence the author displays play as a modality of action of its own Playing is no doing in the ordinary sense once wrote Johan Huizinga Isn't playing doing something else elsewhere and otherwise
