Toward a Recovery of Nineteenth Century Farming Handbooks

While researching texts written about nineteenth century farming, I found a few authors who published books about the literature of nineteenth century farming, particularly agricultural journals, newspapers, pamphlets, and brochures. These authors often placed the farming literature they were studying into an historical context by discussing the important events in agriculture of the year in which the literature was published (see Demaree, for example). However, while these authors discuss journals, newspapers, pamphlets, and brochures, I could not find much discussion about another important source of farming knowledge: farming handbooks. My goal in this paper is to bring this source into the agricultural literature discussion by connecting three agricultural handbooks from the nineteenth century with nineteenth century agricultural history.

To achieve this goal, I have organized my paper into four main sections, two of which have sub-sections. In the first section, I provide an account of three important events in nineteenth century agricultural history: population and technological changes, the distribution of scientific new knowledge, and farming's influence on education. In the second section, I discuss three nineteenth century farming handbooks in connection with the important events described in the first section. I end my paper

Titles are centered and written in 12-point, Times New Roman font. The title is not bolded, underlined, or italicized.

The thesis statement usually is the last sentence of the introduction.

The thesis is a clear position that you will support and develop throughout your paper. This sentence guides or controls your paper.

The introductory paragraph, or introduction, should set the context for the rest of the paper. Tell your readers why you are writing and why your topic is important.

If your paper is long, you may want to write about how your paper is organized. This will help your readers follow your ideas.

MLA requires double-spacing throughout a document; do not single-space any part of the document.

Recitatif Toni Morrison, 2022-02-01 A beautiful arresting short story by Toni Morrison the only one she ever wrote about race and the relationships that shape us through life with an introduction by Zadie Smith Twyla and Roberta have known each other since they were eight years old and spent four months together as roommates in the St Bonaventure shelter Inseparable at the time they lose touch as they grow older only to find each other later at a diner then at a grocery store and again at a protest Seemingly at opposite ends of every problem and in disagreement each time they meet the two women still cannot deny the deep bond their shared experience has forged between them Written in 1980 and anthologized in a number of collections this is the first time Recitatif is being published as a stand alone hardcover In the story Twyla's and Roberta's races remain ambiguous We know that one is white and one is black but which is which And who is right about the race of the woman the girls tormented at the orphanage Morrison herself described this story as an experiment in the removal of all racial codes from a narrative about two characters of different races for whom racial identity is crucial Recitatif is a remarkable look into what keeps us together and what keeps us apart and about how perceptions are made tangible by reality
