

Week 10: The Nervous System

Week 10: The Nervous System

1. The nervous system is responsible for coordinating and controlling all the activities of the body. It is made up of the brain, spinal cord, and peripheral nerves.

2. The nervous system is divided into the central nervous system (CNS) and the peripheral nervous system (PNS).

10.1 The Central Nervous System

- 1. The CNS consists of the brain and spinal cord. It is responsible for processing information and controlling the body's actions.
 - a. The brain is the main control center of the CNS. It is divided into three main regions: the forebrain, midbrain, and hindbrain.
 - b. The spinal cord is a long, thin, tube-like structure that runs down the back. It is responsible for transmitting information between the brain and the rest of the body.
- 2. The CNS is protected by the meninges, which are three layers of tissue that surround the brain and spinal cord. The meninges are the dura mater, arachnoid mater, and pia mater.

10.2 The Peripheral Nervous System

- 1. The PNS consists of all the nerves that are outside the CNS. It is responsible for transmitting information between the CNS and the rest of the body.
 - a. The PNS is divided into the somatic nervous system and the autonomic nervous system.
 - b. The somatic nervous system controls voluntary movements and sensations.
 - c. The autonomic nervous system controls involuntary functions, such as heart rate, breathing, and digestion.
- 2. The PNS is made up of afferent and efferent pathways. Afferent pathways carry information from the body to the CNS, while efferent pathways carry information from the CNS to the body.
- 3. The PNS is also responsible for the body's response to stimuli. This is done through the process of reflexes, which are automatic responses to specific stimuli.

10.3 The Neurological Examination

- 1. The neurological examination is a series of tests used to assess the function of the nervous system. It is performed by a doctor or a specialist.
- 2. The examination is divided into several parts, including:
 - a. Inspection: looking for signs of abnormality, such as swelling or discoloration.
 - b. Palpation: feeling for lumps, tenderness, or abnormal reflexes.
 - c. Percussion: tapping on the body to assess reflexes and muscle tone.
 - d. Auscultation: listening to the sounds of the heart and lungs.
