Atma-nirvriti

Krishna Menon, 1952 The First Century After Beatrice Amin Maalouf, 1994 A French entomologist attending a symposium in Cairo finds a curious kind of bean being on a market stall. It is claimed the beans derived from the scarab beetle have magic powers specifically the power to guarantee the birth of a male infant and when the entomologist does some research into the matter discovering the incidence of female birth has become increasingly rare he is left in no doubt that the world has entered into a critical phase of its history. As this beloved daughter Beatrice approaches maturity the entomologist and his partner question the validity of gender bias and attempt to redress the growing imbalance before it reaches irreversible proportions. But in the poverty and famine of the South where male children can mean the difference between survival and starvation the popularity of the scarab beans is already taking devastating effect Prisoner of Love

Jean Genet, 2023-05-31 Starting in 1970 Jean Genet petty thief prostitute modernist master spent two years in the Palestinian refugee camps in Jordan. Always an outcast himself Genet was drawn to this displaced people an attraction that was to prove as complicated for him as it was enduring. Prisoner of Love written some ten years later when many of the men Genet had known had been killed and he himself was dying is a beautifully observed description of that time and those men as well as a reaffirmation of the author's commitment not only to the Palestinian revolution but to rebellion itself. For Genet's most overtly political book is also his most personal the last step in the unrepentantly sacrilegious pilgrimage first recorded in The Thief's Journal and a searching meditation packed with visions, ruses and contradictions on such life and death issues as the politics of the image and the seductive and treacherous character of identity. Genet's final masterpiece is a lyrical and philosophical voyage to the bloody intersection of oppression, terror and desire at the heart of the contemporary world Introducing Global Issues

Michael T. Snarr, Neil Snarr, 2016 How is new technology, cyberwarfare, drones and more affecting global security? Are the 2015 Sustainable Development Goals having an impact? What progress are governments making in dealing with climate change? Is there a viable solution to the Syrian refugee crisis? How do we reconcile the concepts of universal human rights and national sovereignty? These are among the difficult questions addressed in this new, fully revised and updated edition of Introducing Global Issues. The material has been successfully designed for readers with little or no prior knowledge of the topics covered. Each chapter provides an analytical overview of the issue addressed, identifies central actors and perspectives and outlines past progress and future prospects. Discussion questions are posed to enhance students' appreciation of the complexities involved and suggestions for further reading additionally enrich the text. Michael T. Snarr is associate professor of social and political studies at Wilmington College. D. Neil Snarr is professor emeritus of sociology at Wilmington College Gardener to the King
