Gizmo Warm-up

In the early 1900s, astronomers were able to identify many star characteristics such as color, size, temperature, and luminosity—or how bright a star is. Using the H-R Diagram Gizmo™, you will discover how some of these characteristics are related.

Start by moving your cursor over the stars in the Star collection. Information about each star is displayed on the right side of the Gizmo. The numbers given for Luminosity, Radius, and Mass are in comparison to the Sun. So, a star with a radius of 2 is twice as large as the Sun. Temperature is given using the Kelvin scale, where 273.15 K = 0 °C and 373.15 K = 100 °C.

1. Find Betelgeuse in the Star collection. Fill out the chart at right.

2. The Sun has a radius of 695,500 km.

What is the radius of Betelgeuse? _____ material presented in the unstarred sections of Chapters 1 through 11 was normally covered but different applications of this basic material were stressed from year to year and the book therefore contains more material than was covered in any one year It can accordingly be used with omissions as a text for a year s course in advanced calculus or as a text for a three semester introduction to analysis The prerequisites are a good grounding in the calculus of one variable from a mathematically rigorous point of view together with some acquaintance with linear algebra The reader should be familiar with limit and continuity type arguments and have a certain amount of mathematical sophistication As possible introductory texts we mention Differential and Integral Calculus by R Courant Calculus by T Apostol Calculus by M Spivak and Pure Mathematics by G Hardy The reader should also have some experience with partial derivatives In overall plan the book divides roughly into a first half which develops the calculus principally the differential calculus in the setting of normed vector spaces and a second half which deals with the calculus of differentiable manifolds
