The Future of Nursing 2020-2030 National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine, Committee on the Future of Nursing 2020-2030, 2021-09-30 The decade ahead will test the nation's nearly 4 million nurses in new and complex ways. Nurses live and work at the intersection of health education and communities. Nurses work in a wide array of settings and practice at a range of professional levels. They are often the first and most frequent line of contact with people of all backgrounds and experiences seeking care, and they represent the largest of the health care professions. A nation cannot fully thrive until everyone, no matter who they are, where they live, or how much money they make, can live their healthiest possible life, and helping people live their healthiest life is and has always been the essential role of nurses. Nurses have a critical role to play in achieving the goal of health equity, but they need robust education, supportive work environments, and autonomy. Accordingly, at the request of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation on behalf of the National Academy of Medicine, an ad hoc committee under the auspices of the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine conducted a study aimed at envisioning and charting a path forward for the nursing profession to help reduce inequities in people's ability to achieve their full health potential. The ultimate goal is the achievement of health equity in the United States, built on strengthened nursing capacity and expertise. By leveraging these attributes, nursing will help to create and contribute comprehensively to equitable public health and health care systems that are designed to work for everyone. The Future of Nursing 2020-2030: Charting a Path to Achieve Health Equity explores how nurses can work to reduce health disparities and promote equity while keeping costs in bay, utilizing technology, and maintaining patient and family-focused care into 2030. This work builds on the foundation set out by The Future of Nursing: Leading Change, Advancing Health 2011 report.

Patient Safety and Quality Ronda Hughes, 2008 Nurses play a vital role in improving the safety and quality of patient care, not only in the hospital or ambulatory treatment facility but also of community-based care and the care performed by family members. Nurses need to know what proven techniques and interventions they can use to enhance patient outcomes. To address this need, the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ) with additional funding from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation has prepared this comprehensive 1,400-page handbook for nurses on patient safety and quality. Patient Safety and Quality: An Evidence-Based Handbook for Nurses AHRQ Publication No. 08-0043 online AHRQ blurb <http://www.ahrq.gov/qual/nursesdbk>
