MLA 8th Edition

Works cited entries are created by consulting MLA's list of nine core components - information common to most works. These components are combined in a specific order with specific punctuation.

1 Author.

Begin with the author's last name, followed by a comma and the rest of the name. See examples for works with multiple authors. End this entry with a period.

2 Title of Source.

Titles of books and websites should be in italics while periodicals, television episodes, and songs should be in quotation marks. End this entry with a period.

3 Title of Container,

Title of journal (if using an article), book (if using a book chapter), or show title (if using an episode). End this entry with a comma.

4 Other contributors,

These could include translators, creators of shows, annotation/foreword/introduction authors, and people other than the author(s). End this entry with a comma.

5 Version,

If the source is listed as an edition or version of a work, include it in the citation. End this entry with a comma.

6 Number,

If the source is part of a numbered sequence (multi-volume book or journal with both volume and issue numbers), list those numbers. End this entry with a comma.

7 Publisher,

The publisher produces or distributes the source to the public. End this entry with a comma.

8 Publication Date,

The same source may be published on more than one date (online version vs. original). Use the one most relevant to your use. End this entry with a comma.

9 Location.

Be as specific as possible in identifying a work's location. End this entry with a period.

This edition incorporates several major changes from the new MLA Handbook Seventh Edition. It also has a two-color design, a numbering system, and an index to help students find information quickly and easily. Here students will discover useful advice on gathering sources, compiling notes, summarizing, paraphrasing, quoting properly, and avoiding plagiarism.

MLA Style Manual and Guide to Scholarly Publishing Modern Language Association of America, 2008. Provides information on stylistic aspects of research papers, theses, and dissertations, including sections on writing fundamentals, MLA documentation style, and copyright law.

The Harcourt Guide to MLA Documentation Linda Schwartz, What Every Student Should Know about Citing Sources with MLA Documentation Michael Greer, 2007. What Every Student Should Know About Citing Sources with MLA Documentation provides specific instructions on writing and referencing in the Modern Language Association MLA style. It offers a comprehensive listing of in-text and works-cited models for a wide variety of print, electronic, and online sources. Included too are frequently asked questions about MLA style and guidelines for formatting research papers. The What Every Student Should Know About series is a collection of guidebooks designed to help students with specific topics that are important in a number of different college courses. Instructors can package any one of these booklets with their Allyn Bacon Longman textbook for no additional charge, or the booklets can be purchased separately. Consult your local Allyn Bacon Longman representative for more details.

The MLA Style of Documentation Michael Pringle, John Gonzales, 2009. A pocket guide to the MLA Style of Documentation for collegiate writing. Explains the meaning of plagiarism along with some examples and how to find and evaluate resources. Also discusses how to cite sources in academic writing and how to create a works-cited page in behalf of books, magazines, non-print sources, and web and electronic publications.

Natural Language Processing with Python Steven Bird, Ewan Klein, Edward Loper, 2009-06-12. This book offers a highly accessible introduction to natural language processing, the field that supports a variety of language technologies from predictive text and email filtering to automatic summarization and translation. With it, you'll learn how to write Python programs that work with large collections of unstructured text. You'll access richly annotated datasets using a comprehensive range of linguistic data structures, and you'll understand the main algorithms for analyzing the content and structure of written communication. Packed with examples and exercises, Natural Language Processing with Python will help you extract information from unstructured text, either to guess the topic or identify named entities. Analyze linguistic structure in text, including parsing and semantic analysis. Access popular linguistic databases, including WordNet and treebanks. Integrate techniques drawn from fields as diverse as linguistics and artificial intelligence. This book will help you gain practical skills in natural language processing using the Python programming language and the Natural Language Toolkit (NLTK) open-source library. If you're interested in developing web applications, analyzing multilingual news sources, or documenting endangered languages, or if you're simply curious to have a programmer's perspective on how human language
