Critical Perspectives on Racial and Ethnic Differences in Health in Late Life National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Committee on Population,Panel on Race, Ethnicity, and Health in Later Life,2004-10-16 In their later years Americans of different racial and ethnic backgrounds are not in equally good or equally poor health There is wide variation but on average older Whites are healthier than older Blacks and tend to outlive them But Whites tend to be in poorer health than Hispanics and Asian Americans This volume documents the differentials and considers possible explanations Selection processes play a role selective migration for instance or selective survival to advanced ages Health differentials originate early in life possibly even before birth and are affected by events and experiences throughout the life course Differences in socioeconomic status risk behavior social relations and health care all play a role Separate chapters consider the contribution of such factors and the biopsychosocial mechanisms that link them to health This volume provides the empirical evidence for the research agenda provided in the separate report of the Panel on Race Ethnicity and Health in Later Life

Hispanics and the Future of America National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Committee on Population,Panel on Hispanics in the United States,2006-02-23 Hispanics and the Future of America presents details of the complex story of a population that varies in many dimensions including national origin immigration status and generation The papers in this volume draw on a wide variety of data sources to describe the contours of this population from the perspectives of history demography geography education family employment economic well being health and political engagement They provide a rich source of information for researchers policy makers and others who want to better understand the fast growing and diverse population that we call Hispanic The current period is a critical one for getting a better understanding of how Hispanics are being shaped by the U S experience This will in turn affect the United States and the contours of the Hispanic future remain uncertain The uncertainties include such issues as whether Hispanics especially immigrants improve their educational attainment and fluency in English and thereby improve their economic position whether growing numbers of foreign born Hispanics become citizens and achieve empowerment at the ballot box and through elected office whether impending health problems are successfully averted and whether Hispanics geographic dispersal accelerates their spatial and social integration The papers in this volume provide invaluable information to explore these issues

In the Nation's Compelling Interest Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Committee on Institutional and Policy-Level Strategies for Increasing the Diversity of the U.S. Health Care Workforce, 2004-06-29 The United States is rapidly transforming into one of the most racially and ethnically diverse nations in the world Groups commonly referred to as minorities including Asian Americans Pacific Islanders African Americans Hispanics American Indians and Alaska Natives are the fastest growing segments of the population and emerging as the nation's majority Despite the rapid growth of racial and ethnic minority groups their representation among the nation's health professionals has grown only modestly in the past 25 years This alarming disparity has prompted the recent creation of initiatives to increase diversity in health professions In the Nation's Compelling Interest considers the benefits of greater racial and ethnic diversity and identifies institutional and policy level mechanisms to garner broad support among health professions leaders community members and other key stakeholders to implement these strategies Assessing the potential benefits of greater racial and ethnic diversity among health professionals will improve the access to and quality of healthcare for all Americans
