Burning Down The House The End Of Juvenile Prison

Burning Down the House Nell Bernstein, 2014-06-03 When teenagers scuffle during a basketball game they are typically benched But when Will got into it on the court he and his rival were sprayed in the face at close range by a chemical similar to Mace denied a shower for twenty four hours and then locked in solitary confinement for a month One in three American children will be arrested by the time they are twenty three and many will spend time locked inside horrific detention centers that defy everything we know about how to rehabilitate young offenders In a clear eyed indictment of the juvenile justice system run amok award winning journalist Nell Bernstein shows that there is no right way to lock up a child The very act of isolation denies delinquent children the thing that is most essential to their growth and rehabilitation positive relationships with caring adults Bernstein introduces us to youth across the nation who have suffered violence and psychological torture at the hands of the state She presents these youths all as fully realized people not victims As they describe in their own voices their fight to maintain their humanity and protect their individuality in environments that would deny both these young people offer a hopeful alternative to the doomed effort to reform a system that should only be dismantled Burning Down the House is a clarion call to shut down our nation s brutal and counterproductive juvenile prisons and bring our children home

Burning Down the House Nell Bernstein, 2014-06-03 The nationally acclaimed engrossing disturbing at times heartbreaking Van Jones book that shines a harsh light on the abusive world of juvenile prisons by the award winning journalist Nell Bernstein s book could be for juvenile justice what Rachel Carson s book was for the environmental movement Andrew Cohen correspondent ABC News When teenagers scuffle during a basketball game they are typically benched But when Brian got into it on the court he and his rival were sprayed in the face at close range with a chemical similar to Mace denied a shower for twenty four hours and then locked in solitary confinement for a month One in three American children will be arrested by the time they are twenty three and many will spend time locked inside horrific detention centers that defy everything we know about what motivates young people to change In what the San Francisco Chronicle calls an epic work of investigative journalism that lays bare our nation s brutal and counterproductive juvenile prisons and is a clarion call to bring our children home Nell Bernstein eloquently argues that there is no right way to lock up a child The very act of isolation denies children the thing that is most essential to their growth and rehabilitation positive relationships with caring adults Bernstein introduces us to youth across the nation who have suffered violence and psychological torture at the hands of the state She presents these youths all as fully realized people not victims As they describe in their own voices their fight to maintain their humanity and protect their individuality in environments that would deny both these young people offer a hopeful alternative to the doomed effort to reform a system that should only be dismantled Interwoven with these heartrending stories is reporting on innovative programs that provide effective alternatives to putting children behind bars A landmark book Burning Down the House sparked a national conversation about our inhumane and ineffectual juvenile prisons and ultimately makes the radical argument that the only path to justice is for state run detention centers to be abolished completely

No Matter How Loud I Shout Edward Humes, 2015-03-17 Now updated with a new introduction and afterword this award winning examination of the nation's largest juvenile criminal justice system in Los Angeles by a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist is an important book with a message of great urgency especially to all concerned with the future of America's children Booklist In an age when violence and crime by young people is again on the rise No Matter How Loud I Shout offers a rare look inside the juvenile court system that deals with these children and the impact decisions made in the courts had on the rest of their lives Granted unprecedented access to the Los Angeles Juvenile Court including the judges the probation officers and the children themselves Edward Humes creates an unforgettable portrait of a chaotic system that is neither saving our children in danger nor protecting us from adolescent violence Yet he shows us there is also hope in the handful of courageous individuals working tirelessly to triumph over seemingly insurmountable odds Weaving together a poignant compelling narrative with razor sharp investigative reporting No Matter How Loud I Shout is a convincingly reported profoundly disturbing discussion of the Los Angeles juvenile court's failings providing terrifying evidence of the system's inability to slow juvenile crime or to make even a reasonable stab at rehabilitating troubled young offenders Humes draws an alarming portrait of a judicial system in disarray

The War on Kids Cara H. Drinan, 2018 Despite inventing the juvenile court a little more than a century ago the United States has become an international outlier in its juvenile sentencing practices The War on Kids explains how that happened and how policymakers can correct the course of juvenile justice today

Juvenile Justice, 1993

The Evolution of the Juvenile Court Barry C. Feld, 2019-06-01 Winner 2020 ACJS Outstanding Book Award given by the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences A major statement on the juvenile justice system by one of America's leading experts The juvenile court lies at the intersection of youth policy and crime policy Its institutional practices reflect our changing ideas about children and crime control The Evolution of the Juvenile Court provides a sweeping overview of the American juvenile justice system's development and change over the past century Noted law professor and criminologist Barry C. Feld places special emphasis on changes over the last 25 years the ascendance of get tough crime policies and the more recent Supreme Court recognition that children are different Feld's comprehensive historical analyses trace juvenile courts evolution through four periods the original Progressive Era the Due Process Revolution in the 1960s the Get Tough Era of the 1980s and 1990s and today's Kids Are Different era In each period changes in the economy cities families race and ethnicity and politics have shaped juvenile courts policies and practices Changes in juvenile courts ends and means substance and procedure reflect shifting notions of children's culpability and competence The Evolution of the Juvenile Court examines how conservative politicians used coded racial appeals to advocate get tough policies that equated children with adults and more recent Supreme Court decisions that draw on developmental psychology and neuroscience research to bolster its conclusions about youths reduced criminal responsibility and diminished competence Feld draws on lessons from the past to envision a new developmentally appropriate justice system for children Ultimately providing justice for children requires structural changes to reduce social and economic inequality concentrated poverty in segregated urban areas that disproportionately expose children of color to juvenile courts punitive policies Historical prescriptive and analytical The Evolution of the Juvenile Court evaluates the author's past recommendations to abolish juvenile courts in light of this new evidence and concludes that separate but reformed juvenile courts are necessary to protect children who commit crimes and facilitate their successful transition to adulthood

Last Chance in Texas John Hubner, 2008-04-29 A powerful bracing and deeply spiritual look at intensely troubled youth Last Chance in Texas gives a stirring account of the way one remarkable prison rehabilitates its inmates While reporting on the juvenile court system journalist John Hubner kept hearing about a facility in Texas that ran the most aggressive and one of the most successful treatment programs for violent young offenders in America How was it possible he wondered that a state like Texas famed for its hardcore attitude toward crime and punishment could be leading the way in the rehabilitation of violent and troubled youth Now Hubner shares the surprising answers he found over months of unprecedented access to the Giddings State School home to the worst of the worst four hundred teenage lawbreakers convicted of crimes ranging from aggravated assault to murder Hubner follows two of these youths a boy and a girl through harrowing group therapy sessions in which they along with their fellow inmates recount their crimes and the abuse they suffered as children The key moment comes when the young offenders reenact these soul shattering moments with other group members in cathartic outpourings of suffering and anger that lead incredibly to genuine remorse and the beginnings of true empathy the first steps on the long road to redemption Cutting through the political platitudes surrounding the controversial issue of juvenile justice Hubner lays bare the complex ties between abuse and violence By turns wrenching and uplifting Last Chance in Texas tells a profoundly moving story about the children who grow up to inflict on others the violence that they themselves have suffered It is a story of horror and heartbreak yet ultimately full of hope

In My Father's House Fox Butterfield, 2018-10-09 From the Pulitzer Prize winning New York Times journalist a pathbreaking examination of our huge crime and incarceration problem that looks at the influence of the family specifically one Oregon family with a generations long legacy of lawlessness The United States currently holds the distinction of housing nearly one quarter of the world's prison population But our reliance on mass incarceration Fox Butterfield argues misses the intractable reality As few as 5 percent of families account for half of all crime and only 10 percent account for two thirds In introducing us to the Bogle family the author invites us to understand crime in this eye opening new light He chronicles the malignant legacy of criminality passed from parents to children grandchildren and even great grandchildren Examining the long history of the Boggles a white family Butterfield offers a revelatory look at criminality that forces us to disentangle race from our ideas about crime and in doing so strikes at the heart of our deepest stereotypes And he makes clear how these new insights are leading to fundamentally different efforts at reform With his empathic insight and profound knowledge of criminology Butterfield offers us both the indelible tale of one family's transgressions and tribulations and an entirely new way to understand crime in America

The 57 Bus Dashka Slater, 2017-10-17 The riveting New York Times bestseller and Stonewall Book Award winner that will make you rethink all you know about race class gender crime and punishment Artfully compassionately and expertly told Dashka Slater's The 57 Bus is a must read nonfiction book for teens that chronicles the true story of an agender teen who was set on fire by another teen while riding a bus in Oakland California Two ends of the same line Two sides of the same crime If it weren't for the 57 bus Sasha and Richard never would have met Both were high school students from Oakland California one of the most diverse cities in the country but they inhabited different worlds Sasha a white teen lived in the middle class foothills and attended a small private school Richard a Black teen lived in the economically challenged flatlands and attended a large public one Each day their paths overlapped for a mere eight minutes But one afternoon on the bus ride home from school a single reckless act left Sasha severely burned and Richard charged with two hate crimes and facing life imprisonment The case garnered international attention thrusting both teenagers into the spotlight But in The 57 Bus award winning journalist Dashka Slater shows that what might at first seem like a simple matter of right and wrong justice and injustice victim and criminal is something more complicated and far more heartbreaking Awards and Accolades for The 57 Bus A New York Times Bestseller Stonewall Book Award Winner YALSA Award for Excellence in Nonfiction for Young Adults Finalist A Boston Globe Horn Book Nonfiction Honor Book Winner A TIME Magazine Best YA Book of All Time A Los Angeles Times Book Prize Finalist Don't miss Dashka Slater's newest propulsive and thought provoking nonfiction book Accountable: The True Story of a Racist Social Media Account and the Teenagers Whose Lives It Changed which National Book Award winner Ibram X Kendi hails as powerful timely and delicately written

The Rage of Innocence Kristin Henning, 2021-09-28 A brilliant analysis of the foundations of racist policing in America the day to day brutalities largely hidden from public view endured by Black youth growing up under constant police surveillance and the persistent threat of physical and psychological abuse Storytelling that can make people understand the racial inequities of the legal system and restore the humanity this system has cruelly stripped from its victims New York Times Book Review Drawing upon twenty five years of experience representing Black youth in Washington D C's juvenile courts Kristin Henning confronts America's irrational manufactured fears of these young people and makes a powerfully compelling case that the crisis in racist American policing begins with its relationship to Black children Henning explains how discriminatory and aggressive policing has socialized a generation of Black teenagers to fear resent and resist the police and she details the long term consequences of racism that they experience at the hands of the police and their vigilante surrogates She makes clear that unlike White youth who are afforded the freedom to test boundaries experiment with sex and drugs and figure out who they are and who they want to be Black youth are seen as a threat to White America and are denied healthy adolescent development. She examines the criminalization of Black adolescent play and sexuality and of Black fashion, hair, and music. She limns the effects of police presence in schools and the depth of police-induced trauma in Black adolescents. Especially in the wake of the recent unprecedented worldwide outrage at racial injustice and inequality, The Rage of Innocence is an essential book for our moment.

Cengage Advantage Books: Juvenile Justice Kären M. Hess, Christine M. H. Orthmann, John Paul Wright, 2012-04. This book explores various programs and processes that exist in today's juvenile justice system, including prevention efforts through school and community-based programs.

Love Behind Bars Jodie Sinclair, 2020-04-28. The Powerful Poignant Story of Love, Courage, and Redemption from Death Row: Where an Indomitable Woman Challenged Corruption in Order to Free her Husband. When TV reporter Jodie Sinclair went to the Louisiana State Penitentiary, also known as the Death House at Angola, in 1981, she expected to report about the death penalty and leave. She never expected to fall in love. Billy Sinclair was an inmate at Angola, sent there for an accidental murder during a robbery gone wrong. After facing a trial which was skewed against him and being sentenced to death, he saw first-hand the corruption and abuse rife in the criminal justice system, and he began an unrelenting crusade for reform. When the pair married by proxy a year after meeting, Jodie took up Billy's fight. From then on, she lived with one foot in the outside world and one in the complex and dehumanizing bureaucracy of the prison world. This incredible memoir tracks her heroic twenty-five year fight to save her husband from dying in prison, the professional setbacks she suffered for marrying a prisoner, and a pardons scandal in which she wore a wire for the FBI to help her husband expose corruption in the criminal justice system, leading all the way to the governor's office, which put a target on Billy's back. It is the uplifting true story of a woman who stood by her man and, in doing so, exposed the horrors of our criminal justice system and became a voice for all those who have loved ones behind bars.

Trapped in a Vice Alexandra Cox, 2018-01-30. Trapped in a Vice explores the consequences of a juvenile justice system that is aimed at promoting change in the lives of young people yet ultimately relies upon tools and strategies that enmesh them in a system that they struggle to move beyond. The system, rather than the crimes themselves, is the vice. Trapped in a Vice explores the lives of the young people and adults in the criminal justice system, revealing the ways that they struggle to manage the expectations of that system. These stories from the ground level of the justice system demonstrate the complex exchange of policy and practice.

"Prisons Make Us Safer" Victoria Law, 2021-04-06. An accessible guide for activists, educators, and all who are interested in understanding how the prison system oppresses communities and harms individuals. The United States incarcerates more of its residents than any other nation. Though home to 5% of the global population, the United States has nearly 25% of the world's prisoners, a total of over 2 million people. This number continues to steadily rise. Over the past 40 years, the number of people behind bars in the United States has increased by 500%. Journalist Victoria Law explains how racism and social control were the catalysts for mass incarceration and have continued to be its driving force from the post
