Pittman,2016-08-18 This presentation describes various aspects of the regulation of tissue oxygenation including the roles of the circulatory system respiratory system and blood the carrier of oxygen within these components of the cardiorespiratory system The respiratory system takes oxygen from the atmosphere and transports it by diffusion from the air in the alveoli to the blood flowing through the pulmonary capillaries The cardiovascular system then moves the oxygenated blood from the heart to the microcirculation of the various organs by convection where oxygen is released from hemoglobin in the red blood cells and moves to the parenchymal cells of each tissue by diffusion Oxygen that has diffused into cells is then utilized in the mitochondria to produce adenosine triphosphate ATP the energy currency of all cells The mitochondria are able to produce ATP until the oxygen tension or PO<sub>2</sub> on the cell surface falls to a critical level of about 4.5 mm Hg Thus in order to meet the energetic needs of cells it is important to maintain a continuous supply of oxygen to the mitochondria at or above the critical PO<sub>2</sub> In order to accomplish this desired outcome the cardiorespiratory system including the blood must be capable of regulation to ensure survival of all tissues under a wide range of circumstances The purpose of this presentation is to provide basic information about the operation and regulation of the cardiovascular and respiratory systems as well as the properties of the blood and parenchymal cells so that a fundamental understanding of the regulation of tissue oxygenation is achieved Computed Tomography for Technologists Lois E. Romans,2010-02-01 Leveraging the organization and focus on exam preparation found in the comprehensive text this Exam Review will help any student to successfully complete the ARRT General Radiography and Computed Tomography exams The book includes a bulleted format review of content Registry style questions with answers and rationales and a mock exam following the ARRT format The companion website offers an online testing simulation engine
