Luxury Arts of the Renaissance Marina Belozerskaya, 2005-10-01 Today we associate the Renaissance with painting sculpture and architecture the major arts Yet contemporaries often held the minor arts gem studded goldwork richly embellished armor splendid tapestries and embroideries music and ephemeral multi media spectacles in much higher esteem Isabella d Este Marchesa of Mantua was typical of the Italian nobility she bequeathed to her children precious stone vases mounted in gold engraved gems ivories and antique bronzes and marbles her favorite ladies in waiting by contrast received mere paintings Renaissance patrons and observers extolled finely wrought luxury artifacts for their exquisite craftsmanship and the symbolic capital of their components paintings and sculptures in modest materials although discussed by some literati were of lesser consequence This book endeavors to return to the mainstream material long marginalized as a result of historical and ideological biases of the intervening centuries The author analyzes how luxury arts went from being lofty markers of ascendancy and discernment in the Renaissance to being dismissed as decorative or minor arts extravagant trinkets of the rich unworthy of the status of Art Then by re-examining the objects themselves and their uses in their day she shows how sumptuous creations constructed the world and taste of Renaissance women and men

The Venice Variations Sophia Psarra, 2018-04-30 From the myth of Arcadia through to the twenty first century ideas about sustainability how we imagine better urban environments remain persistently relevant and raise recurring questions How do cities evolve as complex spaces nurturing both urban creativity and the fortuitous art of discovery and by which mechanisms do they foster imagination and innovation While past utopias were conceived in terms of an ideal geometry contemporary exemplary models of urban design seek technological solutions of optimal organisation The Venice Variations explores Venice as a prototypical city that may hold unique answers to the ancient narrative of utopia Venice was not the result of a preconceived ideal but the pragmatic outcome of social and economic networks of communication Its urban creativity though came to represent the quintessential combination of place and institutions of its time Through a discussion of Venice and two other works owing their inspiration to this city Italo Calvino's Invisible Cities and Le Corbusier's Venice Hospital Sophia Psarra describes Venice as a system that starts to resemble a highly probabilistic algorithm that is a structure with a small number of rules capable of producing a large number of variations The rapidly escalating processes of urban development around our big cities share many of the motivations for survival shelter and trade that brought Venice into existence Rather than seeing these places as problems to be solved we need to understand how urban complexity can evolve as happened from its unprepossessing origins in the marshes of the Venetian lagoon to the model city that endured a thousand years This book frees Venice from stereotypical representations revealing its generative capacity to inform potential other Venices for the future practice changing attitudes to physical disorder and the complexity of segregation as an urban phenomenon While the focus is on historical maps the narrative carries the discussion of the spatial dimensions of social cartography forward to the present day showing how disciplines such as public health crime science and urban planning chart spatial data in their current practice Containing examples of space syntax analysis alongside full colour maps and photographs this volume will appeal to all those interested in the long term forces that shape how people live in cities Forensic Evidence Terrence F. Architecture and Modern Literature David Anton Spurr, 2017-05-09 Architecture and Modern Literature explores the representation and interpretation of architectural space in modern literature from the early nineteenth century to the present with the aim of showing how literary production and architectural construction are related as cultural forms in the historical context of modernity In addressing this subject it also examines the larger questions of the relation between literature and architecture and the extent to which these two arts define one another in the social and philosophical contexts of modernity Architecture and Modern Literature will serve as a foundational introduction to the emerging interdisciplinary study of architecture and literature David Spurr addresses a broad range of material including literary critical and philosophical works in English French and German and proposes a new historical and theoretical overview of this area in which modern forms of meaning in architecture and literature are related to the discourses of being dwelling and homelessness
