Health and Wellness in People Living With Serious Mental Illness Patrick W. Corrigan, Psy.D., Sonya L. Ballentine, 2021-03-03 People with serious mental illness get sick and die 10-20 years younger compared to others in their same age cohort. The reasons and possible interventions are many but further research is necessary for the continued development and evaluation of strategies to combat the health challenges faced by these patients. In thoroughly describing community-based participatory research (CBPR) an approach that includes people in a community as partners in all facets of research rather than just the subjects of that research Health and Wellness in People Living With Serious Mental Illness provides a template for continued study. It is through this lens that this volume examines the health and concerns of people with mental illness as well as possible solutions to these health problems. Through multiple case vignettes the book delves into the challenges of health and wellness for people with mental illness summarizing the research on mortality and morbidity in this group as well as information about the status quo on wellness and offers a grounded real-world illustration of CBPR in practice.
