Recognition and Religion Maijastina Kahlos,Heikki J. Koskinen,Ritva Palmén,2019-03-01 This book focuses on recognition and its relation to religion and theology in both systematic and historical dimensions While existing research literature on recognition and contemporary recognition theory has been gradually growing since the early 1990s certain gaps remain in the field covered so far One of these is the multifaceted interaction between the phenomena of recognition and religion Since recognition applies to persons institutions and normative entities like systems of beliefs it also provides a very useful analytic and interpretative tool for studying religion Divided into five sections with chapters written by established scholars in their respective fields the book explores the roots history and limits of recognition theory in the context of religious belief Exploring early Christian and medieval sources on recognition and religion it also offers contemporary applications of this underexplored combination This is a timely book as debates over religious identities problematic forms of extremism and societal issues related with multiculturalism continue to dominate the media and politics It will therefore be of great interest to scholars of recognition studies as well as religious studies theology philosophy and religious and intellectual history

Religion, Ecology & Gender Sigurd Bergmann,Yong-bok Kim,2009 The understanding of nature is at the heart of European self understanding while in Asia the terms of life and energy play a similar central role Globally many institutions and movements have made the protection of the environment and climate a top policy priority Given the urgency of environmental problems the lack of reflections about the human and especially the spiritual dimension of environmental problems is striking Environmental and climatic change transforms not only culture politics and economy but also religion Religious traditions have on the one hand always been dependent on human ecologies on the other hand they vibrantly affect our perceptions of nature and sociocultural practices with in it If life and religion change dramatically at present how could religion make a change How are religious and ecologic processes gendered and how can ecofeminism deepen our understanding of justice What are the life enhancing spiritual resources in the East and the West How can Christian theology contribute to the necessary eco cultural revolution ahead of us And how can Buddhist Taoist Confucian and Christian spiritualities cooperate in a common space and future Questions like these are reflected upon by scholars of religion and theology from Korea Canada and Scandinavia Their chapters emerge from an international workshop which was arranged and convened by the editors 2007 in Yecheon on the Korean countryside and in Seoul

Changing Conversations Dwight N. Hopkins,Sheila Greeve Davaney,1996 Changing Conversations defines the crucial role of cultural studies in the articulation and practice of religious studies disciplines A decisive turn in the development of religious reflection this volume seeks to redefine disciplinary self understanding and to promote religion as an integral component of cultural studies Emphasizing a commitment to the marginalized perspectives i e those communities lacking the resources to determine a new vision of society and so struggle to carve out their own space which more clearly embodies their own idiom Changing Conversations presents insightful authoritative contributions which show how religion is both embedded in and expressive of concrete social relationships and local realities Featuring detailed cultural and political analyses flavored with historical and feminist theory Changing Conversations will inform every reader seeking to explore theology as a vital component of cultural studies
