Cultural Anthropology Welsch

Cultural Anthropology Robert Louis Welsch, Luis Antonio Vivanco, 2014-11-21 What is cultural anthropology and how is it relevant in today's world Robert L Welsch and Luis A Vivanco's Cultural Anthropology Asking Questions About Humanity uses a questions based approach to teach students how to think anthropologically helping them view cultural issues and everyday experiences as an anthropologist might Inspired by the common observation that 99 percent of a good answer is a good question Cultural Anthropology Asking Questions About Humanity combines a question centered pedagogy with the topics typically covered in an introductory course It emphasizes up front what the discipline of anthropology knows and which issues are in debate and how a cultural perspective is relevant to understanding social political and economic dynamics in the contemporary world Cultural Anthropology Asking Questions About Humanity also represents an effort to close the gap between the realities of the discipline today and traditional views that are taught at the introductory level by bringing classic anthropological examples cases and analyses to bear on contemporary questions are fascinating and complex beings With our large brains flexible diets and ability to get around on two feet evolutionary history has made us different from other primates and facilitated our adaptation to practically any environment on the planet At the same time we are more than our biology and there is nothing we do that does not involve culture which encompasses our capacities for symbolic communication intensive social cooperation intergenerational learning and metaphysical thinking These points raise some interesting questions What is it about our humanity that distinguishes us from other species What is culture and how does it shape our origins prehistoric pasts and present How do we as humans construct meaningful social worlds What are the reasons for human biological and cultural diversity Such questions are at the core of the study of anthropology

Welsch, 2001-01-01 Between the 1870s and the 1930s competing European powers carved out and consolidated colonies in Melanesia the most culturally diverse region of the world As part of this process great assemblages of ethnographic artefacts were made by a range of collectors whose diversity is captured in this volume The contributors to this tightly integrated volume take these collectors and the collecting institutions as the departure point for accounts that look back at the artefact producing societies and their interaction with the collectors but also forward to the fate of the collections in metropolitan museums as the artefacts have been variously exhibited neglected re conceived as indigenous heritage or repatriated In doing this the contributors raise issues of current interest in anthropology Pacific history art history museology and material culture Spaces of Culture Mike Featherstone, Scott Lash, 1999-03-30 In Spaces of Culture an international group of scholars examines the implications of questions such as What is culture What is the relationship between social structure and culture in a globalized and networked world Do critical perspectives still apply or does the speed and complexity of cultural production demand new forms of analysis They explore the key themes in social theory the nation state the city modernity and reflexivity post Fordism and the spatial logic of the informational city The contributors go on to analyze the public sphere questioning the reductive representation of technology as a form of instrumentality and demonstrating how new technologies can offer new spaces of culture This analysis of public space is essential to an understanding of issues like global citizenship and multicultural human rights Interdisciplinary Anthropology Wolfgang Welsch, Wolf Singer, André Wunder, 2011-03-23 This volume is the result of a research project entitled Evolutionary Continuity Human Specifics The Possibility of Objective Knowledge that was carried out by representatives of six academic disciplines evolutionary biology evolutionary anthropology brain research cognitive neuroscience cognitive psychology and philosophy over a period of three and a half years The starting point for the project was the newly emerging riddle of human uniqueness though the uniqueness of human beings is undisputable all explanations for this fact have successively been discarded or refuted in recent decades There is no special factor that could explain the particularities of human existence Rather all human skills derive from a continuous relation to pre human skills that is to say to elements that were developed earlier in the phylogeny and were later inherited But starting from abilities that are anything but special how could the particularity of human beings have evolved This was the guiding question of the project In this work we try to answer it by addressing the following problems How strong is evolutionary continuity in human beings How can we understand that it gave way to cultural discontinuity Which aspect of cultural existence is really unique to humans Can the possibility of objective knowledge be seen as a admittedly extreme case in point The answers are meant to help clarify the central issue of contemporary scientific anthropology
