This book is the poetic journey of a human being going crazy in love. One of the most powerful reasons for someone to go crazy is being in intense love. This book is the description of everything a human can possibly feel and think of in the different phases of his insanity in love. The different phases that have been described in the book are: merge, collision, mess, overthinking, and then patience. Going crazy, that is a phrase I used for someone experiencing all of the above phases in sequence, is obviously an irregular phase of life that isn't static and where things don't make sense. Everything written in this book are the overwhelming thoughts, intense feelings, overthinking, and chaotic scenarios one makes up in his mind while going crazy. But it always ends with a sunrise; always, patience has its way to hug us, and even though we aren't okay, we act okay. We have to, because going crazy for so long can kill us. Book is published with Auraq Publications. About Author: Abu Bakr Zafar is a literature enthusiast residing in Lahore. With immense hurdles in the way to be a student of literature before starting the journey as a writer, just like many other hurdles in his way, due to the absence of his father, he wanted to play his part in spreading literature anyway he could. So he turned his passion into his field and then profession. He published this book almost a year after his recent book release. His literary organization kept him captivated as people supposed, but there were reasons he thinks aren't authentic for him to talk about. Chickenfriend Penny S. Roth, 2018-10. A down-home story straight from the chicken coop. Josi loves her animals, and her favorite is especially quirky. His name proclaims it: Chickenfriend. But when new chickens arrive on the farm, things get a little clucky. His feathers get ruffled, and Chickenfriend reacts in the worst way. Will their friendship survive? And can it ever be the same? Children and their adults will love this delightfully honest book about friendship, faith, and feelings.
